

TRANSPARENT POLYMER CARBON NANOTUBE COMPOSITES AND PROCESS FOR PREPARATION

Abstract

The present invention provides a method for the effective dispersion of carbon nanotubes into a polymer matrix. Through a combination of dispersion through sonication, in situ polymerization, dissolution, and film casting, transparent polymer carbon nanotube composites are produced.